

Contemporary Britain Courses

About the department

The Contemporary Britain half course units are run by the Centre for the Development of Academic Skills (CeDAS). They offer international students (both native speakers and non-native speakers) opportunities to better understand how arts and humanities subjects are studied at first year undergraduate level in a British university. At the same time, the topics studied will help students gain an understanding of culture and society in the UK during the post-war period.

Entry requirements

The courses listed below are open to all Study Abroad, International and Erasmus students, subject to any required previous knowledge or qualifications, as stated in the course outlines below.

Each course is either ½ or 1 unit and starts in either the Autumn Term (September) or the Spring Term (January).

The information contained in the course outlines on the following pages is correct at the time of publication but may be subject to change as part of our policy of continuous improvement and development.
